

GIVE ME MORE!! TUESDAY, JUNE 24

THIS WEEK'S ARTS & SCIENCE THEME: INCREDIBLE EDIBLES

FOR: SWEET RED PEPPERS

WHAT WE DID TODAY

(& WHAT WE'LL DO TOMOROW)

SCIENCE: Today we learned about buoyancy and what helps make raisins float in soda. We learned that the carbon dioxide in club soda cling to the raisins and carry them to the surface. We also experimented and made our own soda creations!!

Tomorrow we will learn about magnetism in our foods. We learn about some of the special characteristics of magnets and why some foods that contain magnetic nutrients, such as iron, are an essential part of our diet. Finally, we will pull the iron particles out of our breakfast cereal!!!

ART: Today we finished our still life pictures by outlining our sketches with sharpie pens, then painting them with watercolors. When you use watercolors you have to learn how to use the brush properly so you can spread the colors on the paper the way you want them. My picture really looks realistic. How many different fruits and vegetables can you recognize in my picture.

Tomorrow we will need to bring a potato to camp. We are making a real Mr. Potato Head.

RECREATION: Every day we play games designed to build life skills such as teamwork, strategy, cooperation, risk-taking and confidence. Ask your camper what fun games they played today!

NOTES FROM THE DIRECTOR

From all the smiling faces hopping out of the cars this morning, it seems like the kids have been having a great time at camp this week! Please, if there's anything else we can do to make their camp experience more special, let me know. See you tomorrow, Ed ☺

Edmo Button Design Contest: All the kids completing this week's activities will be bringing home an Edmo collector's button commemorating this week's theme. This Fall we will have a button design contest for next year's themes! The winning campers' designs will be featured on next summer's buttons! Look out for emails in the Fall with more details.
